MESSAGE FROM THE CHIEF JUSTICE AND THE ADMINISTRATOR OF THE COURTS

Hafa Adai! It is with great pride and pleasure that we present to you the 2013 Annual Report of the Judiciary of Guam. The report highlights the significant accomplishments of the Judiciary over the past year, providing useful statistics, program summaries, and performance reports of our various divisions.

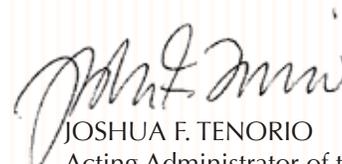

This report demonstrates the hard work and dedication of our judicial officers, court managers, and staff. From the development of a Court Interpreter Registry Program to provide standardized training and a code of conduct and ethics for our court interpreters, to the launch of electronic payments for various court fines and fees, we strive to ensure the fair and efficient administration of justice for all who come before our courts.

We continue to plan for the future by modernizing court operations and developing our court staff. We are still in the implementation phase with our new Case Management System, with plans to launch electronic filing and increase public access in the near future. Our Talent Management Program is a succession planning tool that demonstrates our proactive and planned approach to developing and managing high achieving managers and employees to ensure that the Judiciary's future workforce and staffing needs are met.

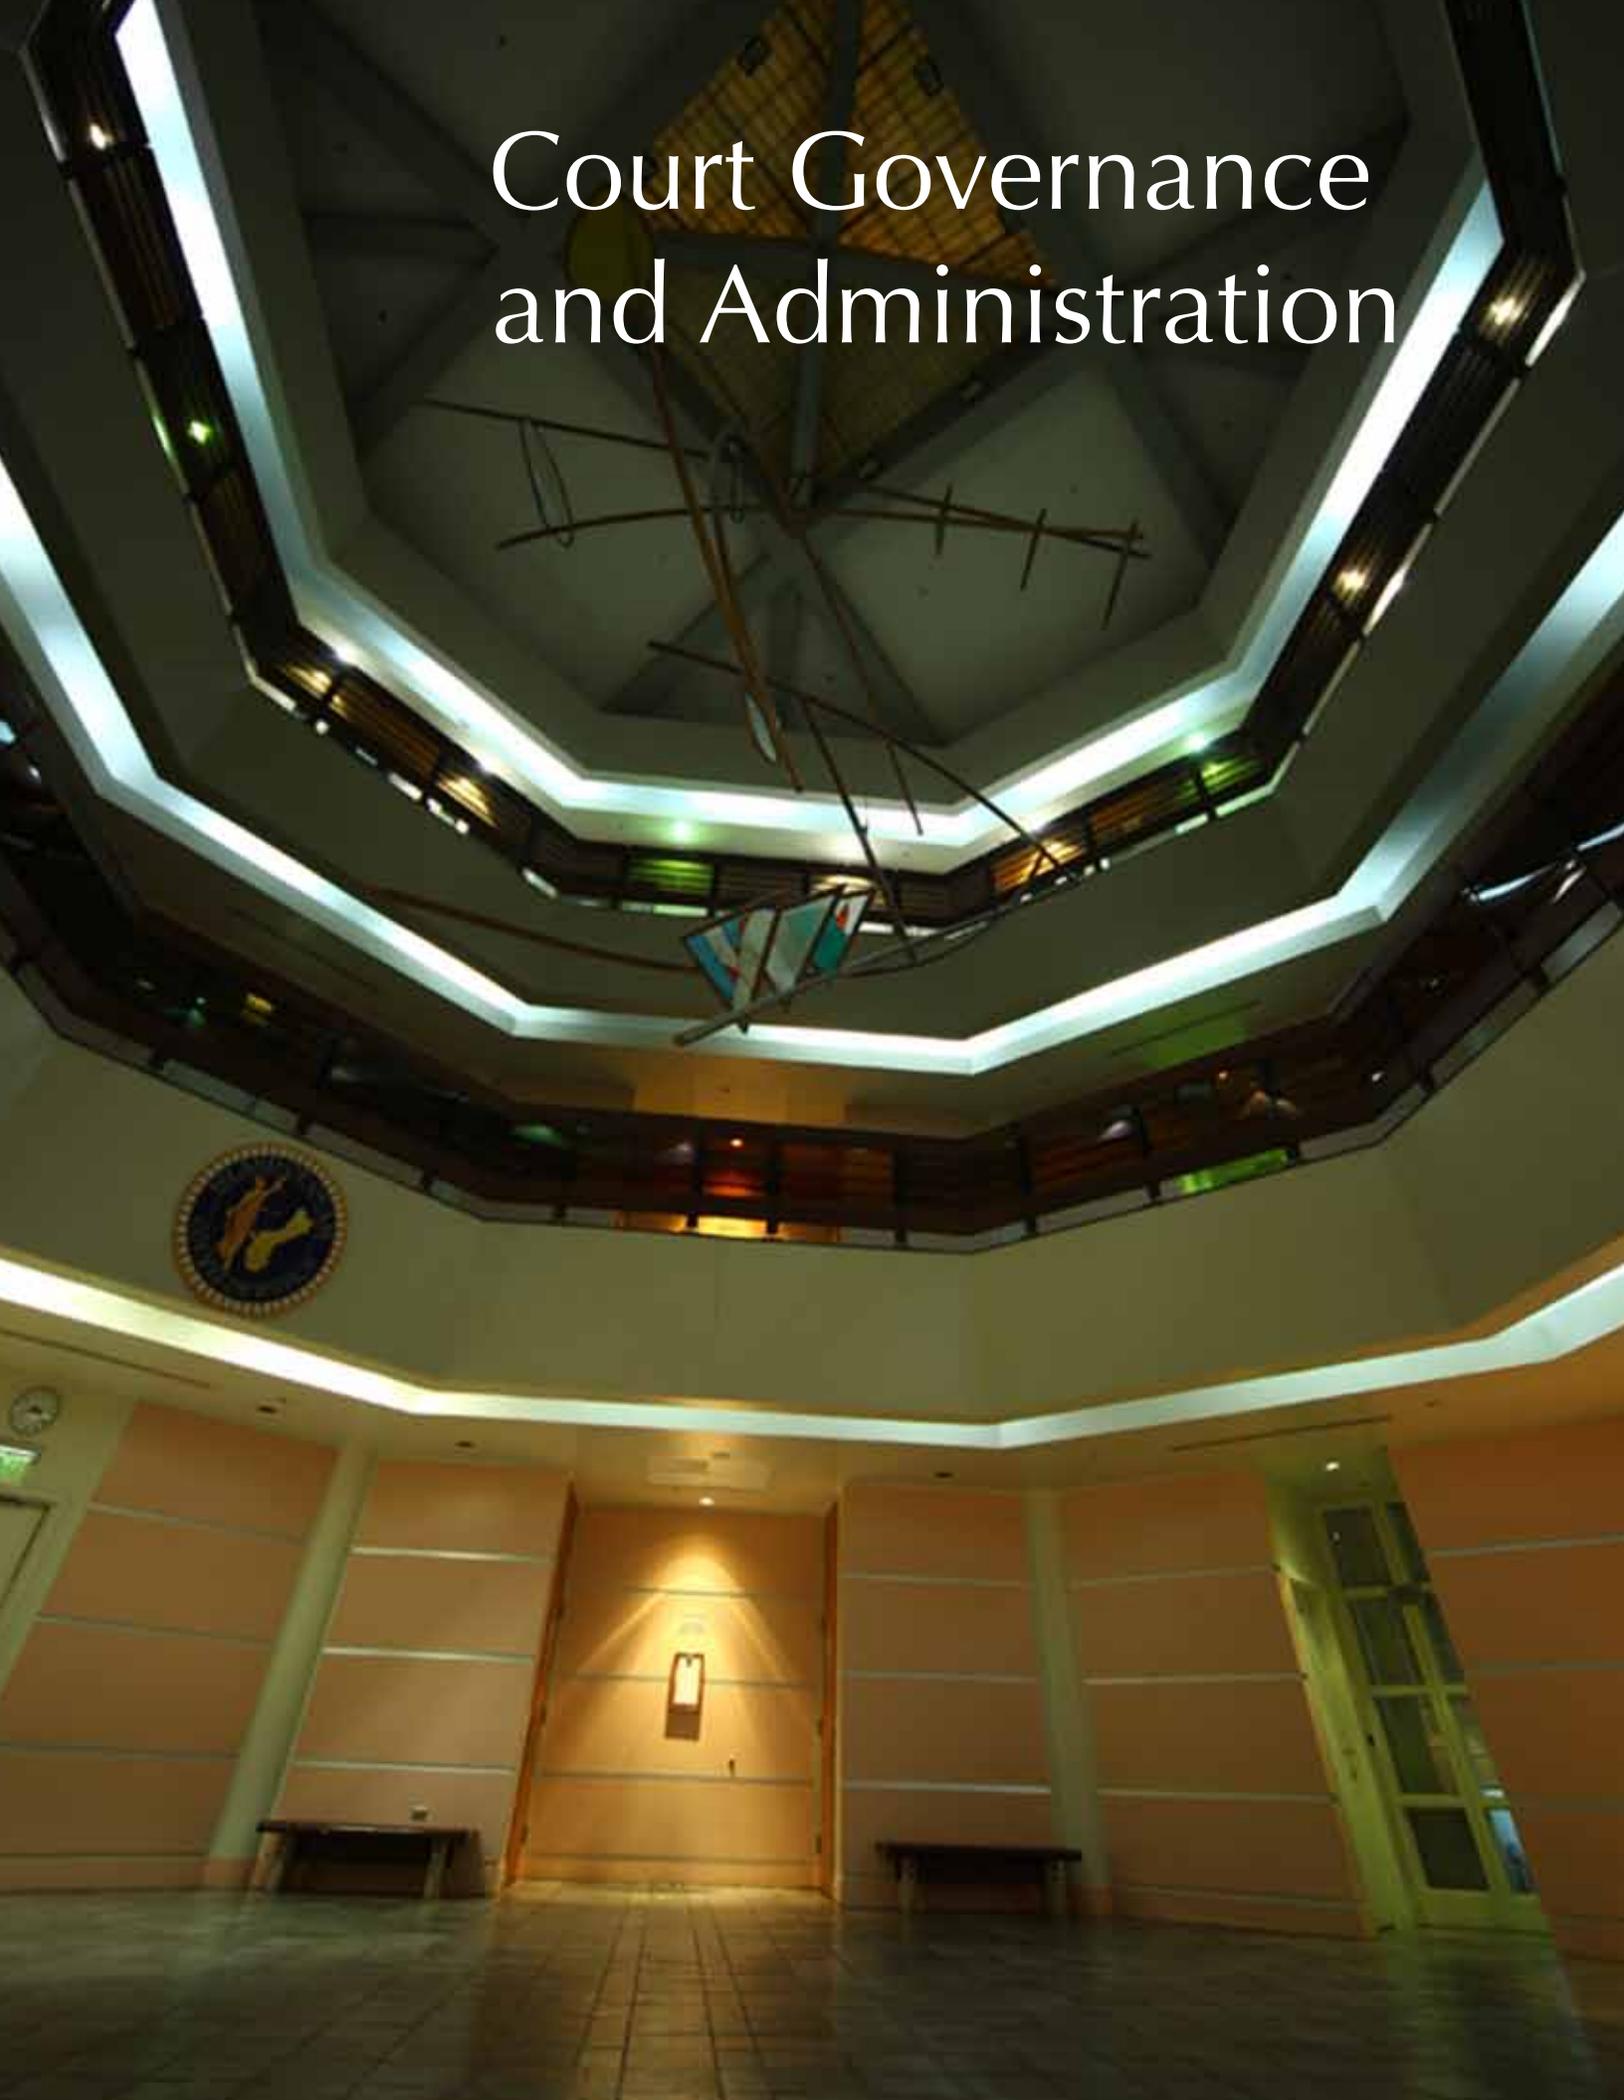

We are proud of our many accomplishments and have high hopes for the future of this branch. We invite you to take this opportunity to learn more about how your Judiciary is working to serve you.

State of the Judiciary

On May 1, 2013, then-Chief Justice F. Philip Carbullido gave the last State of the Judiciary address of his term as Chief Justice at the Guam Legislature's Speaker Antonio R. Unpingco Legislative Session Hall. He highlighted the accomplishments of the Judiciary's divisions and programs, including the progress made on the Judiciary's 2012-2015 Strategic Plan. He also reflected on the significant changes the Judiciary had undergone since the time of his investiture in 2000:

"When I consider the incredible strides we have made together in just over a decade; when I think about how we once considered ourselves a fragmented branch – fragmented not just from the other two branches, but fragmented internally, within ourselves; when I think that, in this relatively short time in our judicial history, we have gone from having two separate court administrations, neither unified nor cohesive, to establishing a Supreme Court on par in stature with the highest courts of all the states, to having a truly unified Judiciary . . . when I really stop and ponder these, I am filled with a renewed sense of hope and pride – different, however, from the hope and pride I felt on the day of my investiture. On that day in October 2000, my hope was flamed only by a vision. Today, having seen that vision realized, having witnessed the Judiciary surmount great hurdles by a willingness to work together, my hope is now flamed by experience, and by the reassuring knowledge that we have set in motion a solid strategy to guide the growth of the Judiciary for years to come."

Realizing the Dream: Equality for All

May 1 of every year marks Law Day, a day celebrating the nation's commitment to the rule of law. The 2013 national Law Day theme was "Realizing the Dream: Equality for All." Guam's Law Week 2013 sponsors, the Judiciary of Guam, the District Court of Guam, and the Guam Bar Association, focused on educating the public about the progress made in ending discrimination, and the work that must be done to ensure that all receive equal treatment under the law.

Using a variety of media outlets and outreach events, our Law Week programming engaged all levels of the community, from our island's leadership to primary school students, from veterans to university students. In 2013, our Law Week events reached even more members of the community, as we continued our traditional events as well as explored innovative programs.

Law Week 2013 kicked off with a joint proclamation and resolution presentation from all three branches of government, underscoring the important role of Law Week in our community.

Fairy Tale Mock Trials

Fairy tale mock trial plays held at the Judiciary features students from the island's elementary and middle schools who play the roles of judges, attorneys, witnesses, court staff, and jurors. More than 400 students performed mock trial plays that reinterpreted fairy tales and other stories. Superman was brought to trial for breaking and entering into a warehouse. Other popular mock trials included Red Riding Hood v. I.M.A. Wolf, featuring Riley Rosete as Renee Hood and Seth Arroyo as defense attorney. The Judiciary also opened its doors to the public during an Open House and invited the public to tours of the Superior Court.

The artistic talents of the island's elementary school children were featured during Law Week, with hundreds of students participating in the annual Law Day Art and Coloring Contest. The artwork submitted from students in grades K-5 were displayed in the Judiciary's atrium throughout Law Week. ## Hustisia Award

A special event held during Law Week is the annual presentation of the Hustisia Award, in recognition of a person or organization that has contributed significantly to the administration of justice and good government in Guam. In 2013, Chief Justice F. Philip Carbullido had the honor of presenting the Hustisia Award to Retired Chief Justice Benjamin J.F. Cruz. Chief Justice Cruz has nearly 40 years of undeterred and courageous government and civic service and has distinguished himself as a singularly compassionate activist for the young, the vulnerable, and the marginalized. He is a public servant who overlooked no one's rights, and he is a true embodiment of the 2013 Law Week Theme: Equality for All.

Law Fair

The most far-reaching outreach event, the annual Law Fair, was held at the Micronesia Mall and gave the public the chance to learn about the services and programs of the local and federal courts, law enforcement agencies, and community organizations. Entertainment included mock trial performances, cultural dances, and demonstrations by the military and Guam K-9 units.

Relay for Life – Team Kotte

Judiciary employees continued to show support in increasing the awareness of cancer in Guam by participating in the 2013 American Cancer Society’s Relay for Life. Team Kotte’s fundraising efforts earned Gold Status in the Relay for Life celebration with the theme of Celebrate, Remember, & Fight Back. Team Kotte eagerly joined the various teams from other organizations on the track during the parade of teams and participated in the luminaria ceremony and closing ceremony.

17th Annual Silent Witness Candlelight Ceremony

Twenty-six red silhouettes surrounded the atrium of the Judiciary during the 17th Annual Silent Witness Candlelight Ceremony chaired by Presiding Judge Alberto C. Lamorena III on October 4, 2013. The silhouettes stand as a reminder of those whose lives ended in tragic acts of domestic violence. The ceremony also provides an opportunity to reach out to those that continue to silently suffer in their homes and to celebrate those who have survived. The keynote speaker for the event was Attorney General Leonardo Rapadas.

Safe & Drug-Free Schools Project

The Safe and Drug-Free Schools Project contributes to the Judiciary's 2012-2015 Strategic Plan Focus Area #4 to enhance collaborative relations with stakeholders and partners through its continued partnership with the Guam Department of Education (DOE). The Project is partly funded by the U.S. Department of Education Title V-A Consolidated Grant #84-403A under Prugraman Inagofli'e´ and provides implementation, training, and technical support to students, school staff, parents, stakeholders, and the community through innovative, research and evidence-based, law-related educational programs: Bullying Prevention, Play by the Rules™/Children at Risk, and School Resource Officer. In 2013, the Project conducted 431 training and 68 outreach events to students and adults (school staff, parents, and community).

DUO (Do Unto Others): A Partnership Against Bullying

The Project continues to advance bullying prevention by educating, engaging and inspiring positive action in youth and families. Bullying prevention included continued implementation of the Olweus™ Bullying Prevention Program (Olweus) in elementary schools, and the student-empowered Safe Schools Ambassadors® Program in secondary schools. Other progress in 2013 included furtherance of Bullying Prevention Advisory Group (BPAG) stakeholder initiatives, and additional training on bullying, cyber bullying, sexting, and related youth violence and behavioral topics.

Play by the Rules™

The goal of the Play by the Rules (PBR) program is to teach Guam youth about their legal rights and responsibilities, to become civic-minded, responsible young citizens, and provide them the tools needed to prevent crime, save lives, and build healthier and safer communities. The interactive program provides a handbook, Play by the Rules: Guam Laws for Youth, for every student to own, take home, and share with their families. In 2013, PBR was expanded from DOE secondary schools to elementary schools' fifth grade classes. On April 3 and 5, 2013, 77 school teachers, staff, and School Resource Officers (SRO) were trained to teach PBR. The program is also widely used by the SROs in the public high schools. The Guam PBR Project initiated plans to publish the second edition of the handbook, incorporating updates and additions to Guam youth laws. Publication is expected in 2014.

Children at Risk

The Children at Risk: The Juvenile Justice System video production, featuring DOE GATE students in a mock trial case, is used to teach youth about the juvenile justice system and consequences of breaking the law. The Children at Risk (CAR) program provides outreach lessons, primarily conducted by Judiciary attorneys and law clerks to secondary school students. Other CAR outreach includes mock trial presentations and Law Week activities featuring students in mock trial plays with fairy tale themes. Twenty-nine CAR outreach presentations for students and three CAR outreach training events for adults were conducted in 2013.

School Resource Officers

SROs are school-based officers who are specially trained, carefully selected, full-time law enforcement officers who work in schools as their primary assignments. Throughout the year, SROs participated in numerous community events to raise public awareness of their role as SROs in the public high schools and law-related educational issues pertaining to youth. SROs co-presented at the University of Guam Mini-Conference on January 12 and participated in the Guam Community College Community Fair on February 23. SROs actively participate in school orientations, parent-teacher conferences, and school-sanctioned athletic events, among other activities.

In 2013, the SROs were involved in 4,275 disciplinary incidents, 308 of which were reported to the Guam Police Department for further action. The SROs conducted 308 presentations in the high schools throughout the year, which was an increase of 110% from the number of presentations conducted the previous year.

Looking Towards the Future

Case Management System

The Judiciary continues to implement its case management system, which has modernized court operations and integrated court information and data. In December 2013, the Judiciary launched E-Payments for certain court fines and fees. Currently, individuals with certain traffic and parking citations can now pay these citations online. E-payment is also available for court-ordered fines and fees in adjudicated criminal cases involving DUI offenses. Special Process Servers can also pay application and renewal fees online.

In 2014, the E-Payments function will be expanded to allow for payment of court and traffic clearances online. Additionally, attorneys will be able to pay their Guam bar dues online, and prospective bar members will be able to pay the bar exam application fee online.

E-payment will also be available for other criminal case obligations, such as criminal fines, restitution, court costs, and program fees for several Judiciary-sponsored programs, such as the Domestic Abuse Program, Anger and Stress Management Program, and Individual Counseling for Family Violence cases.

The Judiciary also looks to launch E-Filing in 2014, with implementation beginning in the Supreme Court followed by the Superior Court. These online services will offer convenience to the Judiciary's clientele and are part of the Judiciary's ongoing efforts to increase access to justice.

Veterans Court

Led by Chairperson Presiding Judge Alberto C. Lamorena III, the Veterans Treatment Court Committee has been meeting to develop this specialty court focused on treating justice-involved veterans whose service to our country has severely impacted their health and wellness. Potential participants must provide written proof of their veteran status, meet certain clinical criteria, and have been charged with a non-violent offense.

The Veterans Treatment Court program is intended to address issues that often arise as a result of veteran status, including homelessness, unemployment, untreated substance abuse, medical issues, and injuries. Veterans in the program are supported by a collaborative network of service providers to foster sustained recovery. The committee members include representatives from the:

- Judiciary of Guam: Justice F. Philip Carbullido, Judge Anita Sukola, Judge Vernon Perez, Judge James Canto II, Joshua Tenorio, Jacqueline Zahnen-Cruz and Court Programs Office staff, William "Brandy" Brandshagen, Virginia Yasuhiro, Raymond Taimanglo, Ann Keith, Margaret Paulino
- Veterans Affairs: Dr. Edward Santos, Guam Veterans Center; Dr. Joan Gill and Stephanie Vidaurri, Veterans Affairs Community Based Outpatient Clinic; John Unpingco (Retired Judge), Administrator of the Guam Veterans Affairs Office
- Attorney General's Office: Leonardo Rapadas, Attorney General; Phil Tydingco, Chief Deputy Attorney General

The passage of Public Law 32-082 amended Guam law to provide for the establishment of this treatment court within the Judiciary, and permitted the Judicial Council to establish fees to supplement the costs related to administering this program.

Employee Training

Through various training opportunities, the Judiciary ensures that employees are able to expand their knowledge base, improve their performance, and become better prepared to respond to emergency situations in the workplace. Training programs in 2013 included:

- Public Safety Grant Writing Training was held for public safety organizations and emergency service providers working with Homeland Defense. Judiciary attendees included a deputy marshal and program coordinator.
- Administrative Response to Active Shooter Training was presented by the Marshals Division to 143 non-law enforcement administrative employees, preparing them with information about identifying and responding to an armed shooter. The employees learned about identifying potential threats and stages of an active shooter, typical response plans, and improving cooperation with law enforcement.
- CPR/First Aid/Automated External Defibrillator Training was provided to first responder and administrative employees. A total of 98 employees earned their CPR recertification cards.
- Firearms Requalification Training for deputy marshals and probation officers, conducted by marshals who are certified firearms instructors. The training included a daytime qualification course for court-issued firearms to teach proper shooting techniques and safety drills.
- Pharmaceutical Drug Diversion Training was provided by the Controlled Substances Program and Guam Prescription Drug Monitoring Program of the Department of Public Health and Social Services, to raise awareness and train regulatory officials on prescription drug use and diversion. Five probation officers attended this training, which DPHSS conducted in partnership with Purdue Pharma, L.P., and Laulima Pacific, Inc. Hawaii.
- Suicide Postvention Training – Train the Trainer, sponsored by the Guam Behavioral Health and Wellness Center, focused on reducing risk and promoting healing after a suicide. Two Individual, Marriage and Family Therapists from the Judiciary's Client Services and Family Counseling Division attended, and learned to coordinate a safe and supportive response to a suicide, reducing the risk of suicide-related phenomena, responding to media, and best practices on communicating safely about suicide.

Talent Management Program

The Judiciary of Guam launched its Talent Management Program in 2013, a proactive and planned approach to developing and managing high achieving managers and employees, to ensure that future workforce and staffing needs are met.

This program, which is consistent with and complementary to the Government of Guam merit system, is a succession planning tool to create an “internal talent pool” for the Judiciary. The goal is to provide existing Judiciary employees with training and skills to fill critical positions as vacancies occur, and to provide opportunities for career enhancement and professional development.

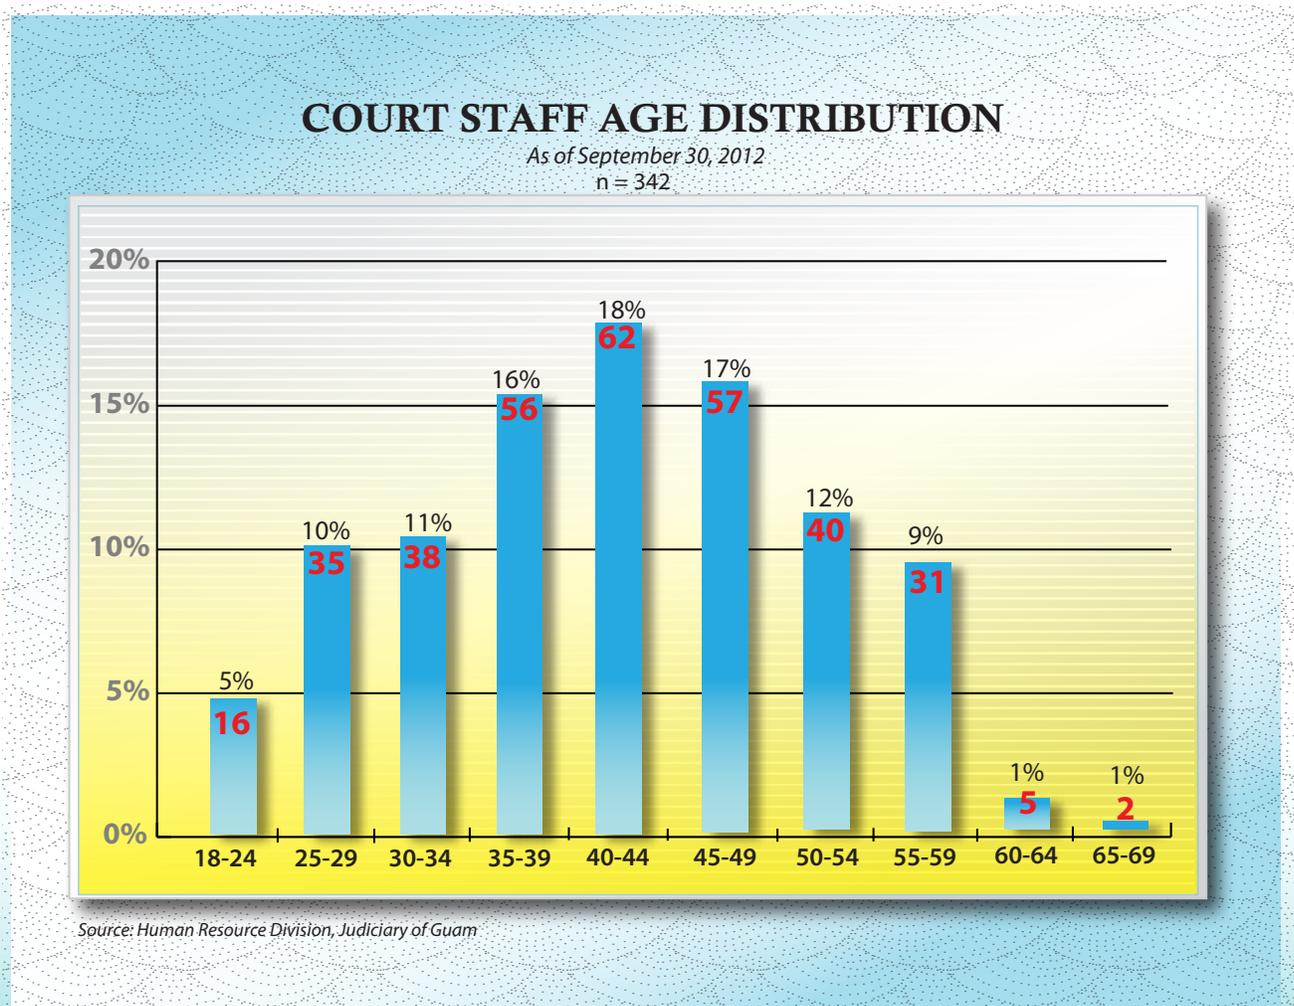

Track 1, the Leadership Development Track, is aimed at creating qualified candidates to fill key leadership positions. Track 1 participants are:

- Joshua Tenorio, Acting Administrator of the Court
- Erica Eschbach, Supreme Court Staff Attorney
- Jessica Cruz, Chief Deputy Clerk of Court, Superior Court
- Yvette Blas-Ananich, Senior Probation Officer
- Serena Taimanao, Courtroom Bailiff

Track 2, the Career Development Track, offers career enhancement to high performing staff. Track 2 participants are:

- Norman Quidachay, Deputy Clerk I
- Charlene Santos, Deputy Clerk III
- Pete Meno, Probation Officer Supervisor
- Rhea Taitano, Program Coordinator III
- Tiffany Muna Barnes, CT Info Systems Analyst II

After being accepted into the program, participants created their individual development plans and report on their progress to a team of senior managers. With forward thinking and preparation, the Judiciary can better anticipate its future staffing needs.

Supreme Court Offices

The Supreme Court of Guam, in addition to serving as the highest appellate court for the local Judiciary, has administrative oversight over the following offices: the Compiler of Laws, the Ethics Prosecutor, and the Public Guardian.

Office of the Compiler of Laws

The Office of the Compiler of Laws continues to fulfill its statutory mandate of publishing the Guam Code Annotated (GCA) and updates thereto, and to assist with the preparation and publication of the Opinions of the Supreme Court of Guam. Free online access to Guam laws, including the GCA, session laws of the Guam Legislature, and the executive orders of the Governor of Guam, are made available free of charge through the Compiler of Laws website, www.guamcourts.org/compileroflaws.

In 2013, the Compiler's Office bid a fond farewell to Assistant Compiler Lorenzo Roberto, whose contributions to publishing the laws of Guam began with assistance to the first Compiler of Laws Attorney Charles Troutman and the Law Revision Commission, the predecessor of the Office of the Compiler of Laws. Mr. Roberto retired from the Government of Guam after more than 28 years of dedicated service.

Geraldine Amparo Cepeda, Compiler of Laws
Erica Eschbach, Chief Assistant to the Compiler of Laws (Jan. – Sept. 2013)
Dean Manglona, Chief Assistant to the Compiler of Laws (from Oct. 2013)

Office of the Public Guardian

The Public Guardian serves as a guardian of the person or estate of an adult who, by reason of age, disease, or disability, is unable to properly manage and take care of him or herself or his or her property without assistance. The Office of the Public Guardian (OPG) receives referrals for guardianship services from Superior Court judges, families, as well as entities such as Catholic Social Services, St. Dominic's, Guam Memorial Hospital and the Skilled Nursing Unit, Guam Behavioral Health and Wellness Center, and the Department of Public Health Adult Protective Services. The OPG also assists and advises guardians, those who are seeking to become guardians, and the court in proceedings involving the appointment and supervision of guardians.

In 2013, OPG had over 80 wards. The office received 61 referrals in 2013, an increase from the 45 referrals received in 2012. Of the 61 referrals, 16 became wards of OPG, and the office filed 14 petitions on behalf of family members.

Significant staffing changes took place at OPG in 2013. OPG hired two new social workers, one to replace the previous social worker who resigned in March, and another to fill a new social worker position. In May, OPG was also able to fill the Fiscal Officer position. With the fortification in its staff, OPG has been better able to meet the demands of effectively caring for its many wards.

Marcelene C. Santos, Public Guardian

Office of the Ethics Prosecutor

The Office of the Ethics Prosecutor receives ethical complaints against lawyers and judicial officers and assists members of the public with their complaints should the case proceed to a formal proceeding. After receipt of a complaint, the process involves an initial screening determination and, if warranted and authorized, an investigation into the allegations. In some cases, the process results in a formal complaint filed against the attorney or judicial officer. These proceedings are generally confidential, but the office ensures that complainants are apprised of the status of their complaints and of the attorney or judicial discipline process.

Fifty-one attorney discipline matters were commenced in 2013. In addition, the Ethics Prosecutor fielded in excess of 50 inquiries from members of the bar as well as the public regarding potential ethics complaints. The following attorney discipline was imposed in 2013: two public reprimands ordered by the Supreme Court of Guam, and one private reprimand imposed by the Guam Bar Ethics Committee.

Seven judicial discipline matters were commenced in 2013. One judicial discipline order was issued by the Supreme Court of Guam in early 2014 regarding a matter resolved in 2013. That order imposed a public reprimand on a retired judge for conduct while he was on the bench.

Bruce Bradley, Ethics Prosecutor

The Jury Unit is responsible for ensuring and coordinating the availability of grand jurors and petit jurors for matters in the Superior Court, and, therefore, it plays a critical role in ensuring the constitutional rights of those accused of crimes. The right to a criminal jury trial is guaranteed by the Constitution, and this unit is essential to the criminal justice system. In 2013, 20,375 jurors were present at orientations, selections and court proceedings, an increase of 23% from 2012 and 41% from 2011. There was also an increase in the number of grand jury proceedings held. Of the 72 petit jury selections, 71 of the cases were tried before a jury, which is a 45% increase from 2012.

Courts and Ministerial Division

The Courts and Ministerial Division (C&M) is an integral part of the judicial process and can be described as the nerve center of the court. C&M is usually the first stop a person makes when visiting the Judiciary for the first time. The staff of C&M plays many vital roles in aid and promotion of the judicial process, most importantly managing the flow of cases through the court. Other essential services include the fair and equitable assignment of cases to Superior Court judicial officers, intake and processing of court documents, maintenance and preservation of case files and court records, support staff for judges' chambers, management of the jury process, and transcription services for courtroom proceedings. C&M is comprised of the following units:

- Intake & Records
- Traffic Violations Bureau/Small Claims Court
- Team Chambers
- Jury Unit
- Child Support
- Drug Courts
- Family Courts
- Master Calendar Cases
- Court Reporters Unit

C&M personnel also facilitate the use of the Self-Represented Litigants Kiosk by those citizens representing themselves in court proceedings and provide interpreter services to persons with Limited English Proficiency as part of the Court Interpreter Registry Program, in addition to other administrative duties.

Specialty Courts

In an effort to address the underlying reasons and causes of criminal behavior, the Superior Court of Guam has developed the following specialty courts: Adult Drug Court, Juvenile Drug Court, Mental Health Court, and Family Violence Court. Known as “therapeutic” or “problem-solving” courts, these programs transform the interaction between criminal offenders and the justice system by using a non-traditional process involving a multi-disciplinary approach. This approach includes treatment, frequent status hearings, counseling, and graduated sanctions and rewards for participants. Research shows that these types of programs are better able to reduce substance abuse, recidivism, and jail overcrowding than the traditional adversarial system.

Adult Drug Court

Participants of the Adult Drug Court program undergo intensive counseling and treatment for their substance abuse addictions and are subjected to frequent random drug testing, agreeing to sanctions for failure to comply with program guidelines.

In 2013, the program received 54 referrals. Thirty-eight of those referred were assessed to be legally eligible for the program, 15 were deemed legally ineligible, and one individual was assessed to be clinically ineligible for the program.

Throughout 2013, program clients were tested up to three times a week depending on their phase in the program. The results of these tests demonstrate that a vast majority of the clients complied with program guidelines:

- Urinalysis tests yielded 86 positive results and 3,421 negative results.
- Breathalyzer tests yielded an average of 4 positive results and 160 negative results per quarter.
- Saliva tests yielded an average of 13 positive results and 30 negative results per quarter.

Juvenile Drug Court

The Juvenile Drug Court program integrates drug treatment services with the juvenile justice system, recognizing that substance abuse addictions may develop in youth and that delinquent behavior may stem from substance abuse related issues. Participants in the program undergo weekly status hearings, random testing, group counseling sessions, life skills workshops, and recreational therapy sessions.

In 2013, the program had 198 active cases. Of the 3,530 drug tests conducted, 17 positive results were returned.

Since the first Juvenile Drug Court graduation in 2003, 294 juveniles have graduated from the program, including 26 in 2013.

Mental Health Court

The Mental Health Court strives to provide sustainable and adequate treatment for adult defendants who are mentally impaired or developmentally disabled – a segment of our population that too often is misunderstood and underserved. This specialty court provides wraparound community-based treatment and services to defendants diagnosed with a mental illness brought before the court for alleged criminal behavior. The court ensures that qualified defendants are properly screened, evaluated, and treated. Defendants in the program are closely followed and encouraged to attend appointments, take prescribed medications, and report to the probation office as directed.

In 2013, the Mental Health Court served a total of 70 clients, 23 of whom were in formal Mental Health Court, 44 on the traditional track, and 3 receiving off-island treatment.

Family Violence Court

The Family Violence Court is an integrated domestic violence court that allows a family to have all civil and criminal cases arising from the same incident heard by a judge specifically trained to address legal issues that arise within families. This successful “One Judge, One Family” model improves caseload efficiency while increasing the services provided to victims and increasing defendant accountability.

DWI Court

In addition to the therapeutic courts, in 2010, the Judiciary established the DWI Court to help address the severe backlog in the prosecution of cases involving Driving While Intoxicated offenses. Under the DWI docket, cases are resolved within 90-120 days from the date of arraignment, instead of languishing for months or years. The consequences for the crime are immediate, and as a result, a violator is more likely to associate the intoxicated driving with the punishment, creating a deterrent effect and preventing recidivism. The DWI docket also requires frequent court hearings and counseling sessions, as well as random breath and urinalysis testing.

Probation Services Division

The mission of the Probation Services Division (PSD) is to assist in keeping the community safe and secure through the enforcement and monitoring of court orders for more than 7,000 adult and juvenile offenders who are placed on supervised release, both pre- and post-adjudicated, diversion, deferred or regular probation in lieu of incarceration as mandated by 7 GCA § 8110.

PSD promotes and enhances a safe environment for Guam’s community by monitoring adherence to court orders for those clients released pending disposition of their case. PSD tracks and enforces the payment of fines, fees, court costs, restitution payments to victims, and court ordered treatment services. Additionally, PSD administers drug and alcohol testing, community service programs, alcohol education programs, theft diversion programs, educational/rehabilitative programs, and anger and stress management programs. The division also provides community policing through the School Resource Officer Program, and performs community outreach to schools, businesses, and organizations as part of a preventive effort to control the increase of new cases and reduce offender recidivism.

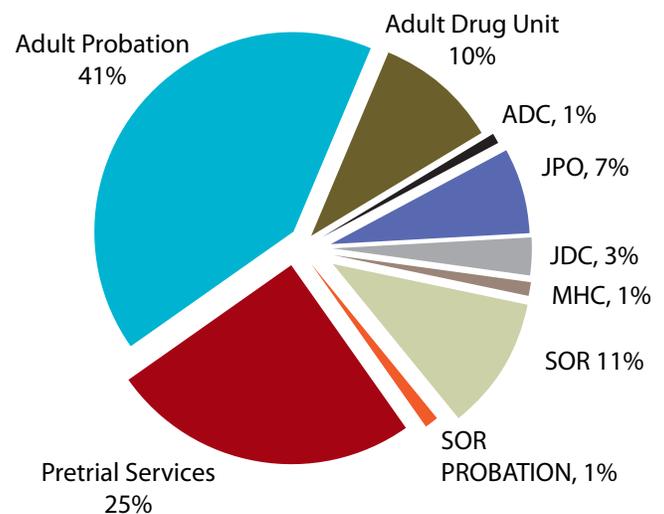

In 2013, PSD recorded 88,388 client check-ins via reporting in person, by phone or through mail/email. The division reported on the non-compliance of probationers through 2,764 violation reports. Other significant statistics include the administration of 22,690 drug and alcohol tests by the Intake/Drug Testing section, the supervision of 2,974 cases by the Adult Probation section, the supervision of 525 cases by the Juvenile Probation Office, the registration of 58 convicted sex offenders in the Guam Sex Offender Registry, and the education of 1,851 clients in various Alternative Sentencing Office programs.

A major accomplishment and the newest feature to PSD was the implementation of Risk-Based Supervision for all clients. Risk-based supervision allows the division to focus community supervision on those clients identified as high risk or most likely to recidivate. The implementation of this concept involved the introduction of a risk assessment tool used to categorize clients into three categories: High Risk, Medium Risk, and Low Risk. This also required the restructuring of case assignments based on the three risk categories. Seasoned Senior Probation Officers supervise high risk clients, while less experienced probation officers are assigned to low risk clients.
